

Notes from thin air....

December 2003
Volume 6 Issue 4

PIKES PEAK CHAPTER ASHRAE NEWSLETTER

<http://www.pikespeakashrae.org/>

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by Jarett Dollyhigh

It seems this year has flown by and before you know it, the year "2003" will be gone and all will have to remember to write "2004" not 2003. Just a reminder, our Christmas Party is this Thursday, December 11th at Colorado College (Womens Club House 20 Mesa Road) beginning at 5:30 PM. Food and Drinks will be served and the party is free to all Pikes Peak ASHRAE members, guests and their spouse. Please RSVP read more

HVAC to the Basics

This is the third article in a series, updated monthly, to discuss briefly some of the basic principles of HVAC.

So far we've looked at HVAC as the method of providing thermal comfort along with the general fundamentals of how heat is transferred to provide thermal comfort. Another basic concept we need to address is that of pressure. It is a natural law surrounding pressure – or better yet, differential pressure read more

Pikes Peak ASHRAE Christmas Party

Directions to the Party!!!!!!

Just click on the link above.....

Upcoming Golf Events.....

Ron Riggs and Coy Brandenburg are currently working on our next event! Look for an announcement in possible next months newsletter and the sign up sheet in February. The event will be held at Walking Stick Golf Club in Pueblo, Colorado as it has in years past. We look forward to seeing everyone there!!!

UPCOMING '03 – '04 PROGRAMS

- December 11th - Christmas Party²
- January - Controls w/ Tom Padilla, Siemens
- February - Joint Mtg w/ Denver Chapter;
Tentative Guest Speaker Richard Rooley, Society President
- March - Technical Seminar, Program TBD

See also our new website for further details....

<http://www.pikespeakashrae.org/>

² Colorado College Clubhouse at 5:30