Credits

Our morning presenter will discuss the various approaches to commissioning including LEED requirements. He will also discuss how the approach to commissioning impacts the commissioning provider and potential pitfalls and construction team communication issues.

The afternoon session will offer a panel of nine LEED experienced construction industry representatives who will take questions from attendees about the LEED process and how it relates to all project team members.

MORNING PRESENTER: PAT PRENDERGAST

Pat is a mechanical engineer with 20 years experience, 13 performing commissioning preceded by seven as an MEP design engineer. His experience includes the design, commissioning, retro-commissioning and troubleshooting of specialized HVAC systems and building management control systems for critical and zero downtime facilities. Pat has been the multi-disciplined Commissioning Team Leader for projects ranging from several thousand dollars to over 400 million.

Pat has provided educational seminars to national, local, and regional audiences including: National Association of State Facility Administrators (NASFA); CDC's Biosafety Symposium; American Biological Safety Association; National conference on Building Commissioning, American Institute of Architects and Labs 21. He was a speaker at the annual National Conference on Building Commissioning conference; his topic was "Commissioning Critical Facilities". Pat has authored a technical paper for the Labs 21- Facility Design Handbook, and been published in Consulting/Specifying Engineer.
